Good News For Homemakers

CLOGGED SHOWER HEADS

If shower head is clogged, try boiling it in 1/2 cup vinegar and 1 quart water for 15 minutes.

For plastic shower heads, soak in equal amounts of hot water and vinegar.

CERAMIC TILE

Before you start cleaning the walls or tiles, run your shower a while with the hottest water possible. Dirt loosened by steam will come off much faster.

For light jobs, wash with a solution of 1/2 cup ammonia, 1/2 cup white vinegar, 1/4 cup washing soda and 1 gallon warm water.

For excessive stains, make a paste of baking soda and bleach. Then scrub with a small brush and rinse thoroughly.

HEAVY SHOWER STALL FILM

Rub lightly with a plain piece of dry, fine steel wool--not the soap filled variety. Try a patch first to be sure that it isn't scratching your tile. If it is, you should use a finer piece of steel wool. As you scour the tile, you will see the scum coming right off. Wash down after the job is completed.

WASHING SHOWER CURTAINS

Fill the washing machine with warm water and add two large bath towels. Add 1/2 cup each of detergent and baking soda. Run through the entire wash cycle. However, add one cup vinegar to the rinse water. Do not spin dry or wash vinegar out. This method will not work without the bath towels. Hang shower curtains immediately. Wrinkles will disappear after the curtain has thoroughly dried.

REMOVING MILDEW FROM SHOWER CURTAINS

To prevent mildew, soak in a solution of salt water before hanging the curtains.

Use [illegible] to remove mildew from small areas.

Stubborn stains on light-colored curtains--wash in the above manner, followed by a rub-down with lemon juice.

TOILET RINGS

Flush toilet to rinse sides. Apply paste of borax and lemon juice. Let set for two hours and then scrub thoroughly.

Or you may rub the ring with a fine grade of sand paper. If the rings are years old, try what is called a wet-dry sand paper, which is available locally at hardware stores.

Hopefully these suggestions and hints will make your bathroom cleaning easier each week and save you some efforts when it comes to fall or any-time-of-the-year cleaning.

Hospital SurgiCare. Only the name is new.

Outpatient surgery saves—everything from fractured ankles to skin cancers to problem ears. Not to mention time and expense.

At Lynchburg General, we've been doing outpatient surgery since June of 1976. We call patients the night before to answer any questions. We have them in and out of the operating room within the day. And we make sure no one leaves without knowing exactly what to expect from their surgery.

Some 500 people had outpatient surgery at Lynchburg General back in 1976. Last year, we saw almost three times that many patients.

You see, eight years ago, we identified outpatient surgery as the future of medicine. Today, we've found a name for that vision. Hospital SurgiCare.

Redemption

By WILLIAM L. TRIMYER
THE CHRISTIAN'S REDEMPTIVE SPIRIT
Lesson for October 7, 1984
Bible Study Passages: Romans 12:9-16; Galatians 6:1-10

INTRODUCTION

Have you ever noticed how some folk's religious beliefs and convictions get in the way of their ability to be a minister? Some people will "push religion down another person's throat" until that person gets sick! Instead of helping them feel better it ends up making them feel worse.

Everyone is entitled to their beliefs and convictions. You may hold strong beliefs about abortion, but do your beliefs render you unable to care for a woman who chooses to have an abortion? You may have strong feelings about the use of alcohol, but do your beliefs get in the way of caring for someone who may have a drinking problem? You do not have to approve of someone's behavior to care for them.

Pay attention to the manner in which Jesus handled his own beliefs and convictions. He did not use his beliefs to beat others into submission. Unlike those who "hang people over the head with their Bibles," Jesus always approached people with a redemptive spirit.

Our lesson this week will point out how Christians are obligated to interpret their beliefs in loving and redemptive attitudes towards others.

CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP (Romans 12:9-18)

The Apostle Paul was a cosmopolitan man. His ministerial travels carried him to numerous cities teaching and preaching the Gospel. While his writings focused oftentimes on issues of faith and theology, he also impressed upon Christians the importance of compassion towards one another.

Paul encouraged Christians to love others sincerely. He did not condone the kind of love that manipulates others. If the unbelieving world does not witness love among the Christian ranks, where else will they find it? Affection and care must be evident especially among Christ's people. As Christians we must labor to willingly care for others without judgment. Christians are prone towards hospitality.

This hospitality is not extended to believers only, but to those outside the church doors. We are to be a blessing to others, willing to celebrate and weep when the occasion calls for it. (This might be a good time to reread the Sermon on the Mount in Matthew.)

RESPONDING TO SUFFERING (Galatians 6:1-10)

Paul offers examples of how the believer is to respond when he or she encounter those in need. The Christian never runs out of opportunity to respond to the needs of others. What do you do when you hear of a loved one whose house is destroyed by fire? What is your response to someone who has lost a loved one? What do you do when a friend loses his/her job? What do you do when a friend or neighbor is sick? How do you respond to those who are institutionalized in a nursing home or prison? These are questions we each must give answer to. Our model for responding come from Jesus.

Christians are invited by Christ to become involved in the ministry of healing. We are called of Christ to take on the ministry of burden-bearing. Needy people are the primary subject of the Christian's ministry.

Paul also upholds the principle that those who devote their lives to the gospel ministry need the support of those they serve. Spiritual leaders are called to help point the way. The community of faith frees them to do their leading by supporting them with presence, help, and financial support.

Answer these questions:

1. Name the last time you felt ministered unto by a fellow believer.

2. List the gifts you possess that can be a blessing to others.

Sessions continue

Our Lady of Peace Catholic Church continued the adult discussion sessions on Tuesday evenings.

Of particular interest was a comment about the Canon Law of the Church," said member Bette Steinkamp. "The catholic church has just revised it's code of canon law and we were impressed with the section concerning the "Obligation and rights of the lay members of Christ's faithful" she continued.

The revised code states these obligations as follows: "Since lay people, like all Christ's faithful, are deputed to the apostolate by baptism and confirmation, they are bound by the general obligation and they have rights, whether as individuals or in associations, to strive so that the divine message of salvation may be known and accepted by all people throughout the world. This obligation is all the more insistant in circumstances in which only through them are people able to hear the gospel and to know Christ. They have also, according to the condition of each, the special obligation to permeate and perfect the temporal order of things with the spirit of the gospel. In this way, particularly in conducting secular business and exercising secular functions, they are to give witness to Christ."

"Obviously, the gospel directive is to evangelize, but it is refreshing to see it written into the law of our church in such clear and compelling language," commented several who attended the session.

The next discussion session will be Tuesday, Oct. 16 at 7 p.m. at the church. Regular Sunday worship is at 11:30 a.m., with a weekday mass at 12:15 p.m. on Friday.
